

Updates in the Online Learning Agreement Terms and Conditions and Privacy Policy

One of the key advantages brought about by the electronic data exchange is that it makes it considerably easier to meet high privacy and compliance requirements. Accordingly, and to ensure the highest level of compliance with the General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679, we are announcing an update of the Online Learning Agreement Terms and Conditions and Privacy Policy, which will come into effect on 23 July 2021. These updates do not amount to a significant change in our practices or values; instead, they are designed to provide even more transparency on the data processing carried out by the platform.
